

Title: Cavalry Group Unites with Cavalry Solutions

Publication Date: 1 February 2010

Syracuse, NY. – Cavalry Solutions, the web-based software development company and Cavalry Group, the professional services company will now be operating under one name: Cavalry Solutions, Inc.

From their inceptions Cavalry Group, Inc and Cavalry Solutions, Inc have worked under the same roof. Since 2003, Cavalry Group has been delivering high quality professional consulting services to its clients while Cavalry Solutions has focused on the development of web-based, efficiency-focused software tools. Increasingly, customers have looked for “blended services” – those which leverage the unique benefits that only experienced professionals can provide with the efficiencies created by the use of web-based software. Brining these two well established companies under one name is reflective of our corporate desire to meet our customers’ needs.

Cavalry Solutions will continue to work to ensure that each individual client’s needs are met. Clients requiring solely traditional professional services will still have the exact same pool of experienced professionals from which to choose. Clients who prefer to address their compliance tasks internally with the use of the Cavalry Compass™ will continue to have that ability as well. It has been, and will continue to be, the primary goal of the company to ensure that each client has a customized solution to their needs.
